L. L. WILCOX ELECTROCUTED WHILE AT WORK AT BESSEMER.

Well Known West Penn Light Official at Uniontown Meets
With Tragic End Yesterday Afternoon.

HE GOT HOLD OF A LIVE WIRE.

Six Thousand Volts Passed Through
Body and Death Resulted Within a Few Minutes, Though Every Effort
Was Made to Revive Him.

L. L. Wilcox, Superintendent of Lighting for the West Penn Electric Company, was electrocuted at the Bessemer
Coke Company's plant at 11th and Mason streets, about 4 o'clock
yesterday afternoon. John R. Barnes,
an electrician who was assisting him,
was also severely shocked by the current. The two, in company with Ray Caldron, were removing the machinery
at the plant, which has been supplied
by a private electric plant for the operation of the company's several plants. The machinery is to be shipped to the American Pipe & Foundry Company at Scottsdale. In order to drag the transformers of oil a section
of hose with a piece of iron pipe used for watering ovens was used. This was connected and the transformers drained. It was then disconnected
and preparations were made to reconnect them. Mr. Wilcox had hold of the hose and the iron pipe and Mr.
Barnes had hold of only the hose.
In some manner in handling it the pipe struck the overhead wire charged with more than 6,000 volts of electricity. Mr. Wilcox was knocked crashing into a pit six feet deep.

Assistance was called from Mason-
town, a mile away, but Mr. Wilcox
had been dead almost a half hour
when Dr. Warren arrived. He said that death had resulted in about six minutes.

Word of the accident was telephoned
to Uniontown and a special car
sent to bring the body to Uniontown.
Mr. Wilcox was 47 years old, and a native of Wellsville, N. Y. He leaves
a widow and one son, Edgar, now employed as a meter tester for the West
Penn Electric Company. The family
reside on Walnut street, Uniontown.
The deceased was the first lighting
superintendent that the company had.
Three years ago he went to Scottsdale
to reside but three months ago again
took a position with the West Penn Electric Company. The remains were taken to Wellsville, N. Y., today for interment.

News of Wilcox's death was a severe shock to the local West Penn
people, among whom he was an especial favorite. One of the officials,
speaking of the matter this morning,
said:

"Mr. Wilcox was one of the few men who never lost his temper. I have known him ever since he became associated with the West Penn, and cannot recollect the time when he was other than bright and cheerful.
Although frequently required to be up at all hours of the night looking
after wire trouble, not a word of complaint did he speak.

"He wasn't afraid of work. I have seen him many times out in a driving
rain, soaked to the skin, helping and
directing his men in a difficult piece
of construction. His loss is deeply felt by all of us."

It is likely that some of the West
Penn officials may accompany the body to Wellsville, N. Y., where it is to be interred. The funeral will be in charge of the Masonic order.

LOOKS QUIET.

No Pays Today in the Klondike and Little Trouble is Anticipated
by Officers.

UNIONTOWN, Aug. 10.—Officers this morning telephoned to various sections of the Klondike region but could learn of no indications which point to trouble today. None of the works pay off today and there is little danger of
there being any big disturbance.

County Detective McBeth has made
inquiries against several parties for running a speakeasy at Tower Hill,
but their names have not been announced yet.

HAS TYPHOID FEVER.

Mr. A. A. Thompson Removed to Home of His Father.

UNIONTOWN, Aug. 10.—Hon. A. A.
Thompson, Superintendent of the Thompson-Connellville works, has been removed to Uniontown and is suffering from a well developed case
of typhoid fever.

He has been taken to the home of his father, J. V. Thompson, at Oak Hill, close to town.

STUCHFIELD—FITZGERALD.

Rev. W. A. Edie Performed Ceremony
in New Jersey.

William G. Fitzgerald and Miss Ellenor D. Stuchfield were married at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs.
Abernathy, in Hackensack, N. J., on Thursday evening, August 8. Miss Stuchfield is a niece of Mrs. W. A.
Edie and has frequently visited our town.

The groom is a native of Glasgow,
Scotland, and is a marine architect.
The happy couple sailed on the Caledonia for a visit in Scotland. Their home will be in London. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. A.
Edie.

A BIG CROWD

May Come to Connellville if Annual Convention of Knights of Pythias Meet Here.

An effort is being made by the local Lodge of Knights of Pythias, through its representative, O. B. Purinton, to secure the annual convention of the Grand Lodge of the Order for 1908
for Connellville. This will mean the entertainment of between 600 and 800 representatives and members of that body who are representative men
from every nook and corner of the State, many of them men of wealth
and business; it also means the entertainment of not less than 300 ladies
who are members of the Pythian Sisters and hold their annual meeting
at the same time and place. The Uniform Rank, composed of from 2,000 to 3,000 members will hold their annual encampment at this time, and
there will be from 3,000 to 4,000 visitors in Connellville for a whole week.

The advantages of a meeting of this kind cannot be estimated. The publicity given to our city will be of
the widest possible nature.

The ability to care for visitors was fully demonstrated by the citizens of Connellville during the Centennial
and with the new armory and the an-natorium in New Haven we can offer
convention facilities second to none.
Our hotels are good as the best and
while they probably will be crowded
to the limit, the proprietors are men
who know no such thing as "fail,"
and if the Knights decide to come to Connellville next year, the center of the entire region will give them the warmest kind of a warm welcome.

BIG REUNION

Fayette County Veterans Get

is anticipated in Uniontown when the seventh annual convention of the Fayette County Veterans' Association
meets in the court house on October 10. Free dinners will be furnished the old soldiers. It is expected that Deputy Commander Powell of this State
will be present.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee this morning the following resolution committee was appointed: E.
Dunn, Connellville; A. D. Frankton,
Pittsburgh; Dr. L. E. Arons-
burg, Lawrence; Francis Morrison, Obiopolis; and Henry O'Neill, Smith-
field.

EVERSON, Aug. 10.—Mrs. Blanche Donaldson Hill, aged 52 years, wife of W. S. Hill, died at her home here on Thursday of tuberculosis. The de-

tian woman, loved by all who knew

vived by six sons and three daughters.

Va.; Perry of Everson, Francis of El-

SOCIAL WHIRL.

At the Ferncliff, Obiopolis, Has Been
Keeping Up a Lively Pace
This Week.

Water dogs and snakes having retired from the limelight of Obiopolis
gossip for the time being, the social whirl is not attracting attention.
There have been large dinners at this popular summer resort, and parties
and dances being in order. Nearly every evening the spacious parlor of
the old-fashioned hotel has been brilliantly decorated with flowers, wild flowers, carnations and other floral distinctions, while exciting games of five hundred, bridge, euchre and big cassino are had.

The dances have not been the least interesting of events, either. Music
is furnished by Miss Rogers B. Pow,
and those who trip the light fantastic
say they seldom danced to better music. The parlor makes a good sized dance hall, too.

Last Thursday evening Mrs. E. T.
Norton and Mrs. W. E. Rose of Johnstown entertained at five hundred, several tables being used. Refreshments were served. Last evening Miss Clara Pritchard and Mrs. J. A. Lyon entertained. Light and tasty refreshments were served, and prizes awarded. Miss Lillian Bleher won the first prize, Miss Charles Pow of Youngstown, O., the second, and Mrs. W. E. Rose the third.

NO MEETING.

As Stated Yesterday There Was No
Quorum of Council for Called Session Last Evening.

As predicted in The Courier yester-
day there was no meeting of Town Council last night. Councilman D. P.
Chard, J. J. Millard and Frank Eitel,
at least one of whom was needed to complete a quorum, failed to appear.
President Porter and Councilman Mc-Gonick, Dean and Stillwagon were on hand, remaining until 8:30 when they left to participate in the Red Men's parade. Neither County Commissioner John S. Graham nor Attorney R. F. Hopwood appeared in the vicinity of City Hall.

RED MEN'S PARADE.

There Was a Big Turnout of
the Warriors Last Evening.

WAS A BIG CROWD ON STREETS

Women Helped Out in the Line of Parade—Picnic Will Be Held on Tuesday at Olympia Park and Will Be Largely Attended.

Connellville was invaded last evening by savages and quite conquered by them. The martial strains of music
from two drum and fife corps, accompanied by the multi-colored regiments
of the attacking party was too much
for our susceptible hearts. The Red Men had everything their own way
for most of the evening. There were Red Men and Red Men, and some of them weren't Red Men at all, but brilliantly garbed women who take a keen interest in the order.

The whys of the which of all the commotion is the big Red Men's picnic, which is to be held at Olympia
Park on August 13. With characteristic enterprise the Red Men are becoming more and more of the town, but
that they will take a big crowd to Olympia with them.

The parade was spectacular. Leading the way through the downtown
streets, rode Officers Howard Anderson, Thomas McDonald and John A. Lowe, mounted on snow white charges. Then came the honorable Burgess and a portion of the Town Council of the borough of Connellville drawn by two white steeds. Attending the borough officers rode Editors
H. P. Snyder and L. D. North of the local newspapers. Then came the female Red Men, and after them the grotesquely attired Red Men themselves.

Rice Shaw's drum corps, with West Redeemer doing gymnastic stunts on
the bass drum led the procession,
while the famous boys' martial band of
Mt. Pleasant stalked in front of the Red Men's line. The parade was a huge success in every way and was witnessed by a large crowd of spectators.

ELECTED TEACHER

At Special Meeting of the New Haven
School Board.

A special meeting of the New Haven
School Board held last evening
Miss Lavina E. Lorton of Mt. Pleasant
was elected teacher of Room No. 6 to succeed Miss Linda Blaney, who resigned. Mrs. C. C. Smith was re-elected teacher.

TRAIN JUMPING

Results in the Death of James Britt
of Leisnering—Was Badly Mangled.

Edward James, fifth son of John
and Ida Britt, of Leisnering No. 1,
died this morning at the hospital as
the result of jumping on a freight train late yesterday afternoon. He was thrown under the train, suffering
the loss of his left leg above the knee. He was hurriedly removed to the hospital where his leg was amputated. Death was partly due to the shock. Deceased was seven years
five months and five days old.

The body was removed to funeral Director J. L. Sander's parlors on West Main street and prepared for burial, later being moved to his late home at Leisnering No. 2. Funeral from his late residence Monday afternoon.

BALL GAME TODAY.

Fairmont Leaders of West Penn Here
for What May Be the Last Contest.

After a week's absence on the road
the ball team is home again and this afternoon will do battle with the Fairmont leaders. Powers' Pets haven't been doing so well since they have been away from home and the Coke
Heaveners will give them a hard chase
for their money.

The team had a hard luck trip of it away from home this week. But three games were played, two wins and one
draw, which is breaking fairly well.
Braver Falls was the only team met.
Both games scheduled with Greensburg were called off on account of rain. Philadelphia's team came out better than expected, the boys bringing $32 back with them.

The West Penn outlook is far from bright but the local situation is much improved. A movement is on to have a well known young capitalist of the Young Men's League of the town
and play independent ball for the balance of the season.

AT THE KEYS.

Union Officials Are Holding Telegraph-
ers to Positions in Pittsburgh.
Situation Serious.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 10.—Telegraph-
ers here are bargaining for a strike, but
the conservative officials of the union
are holding the men at the keys. Both companies are running Chicago wires
subject to delay. There is possibility of a strike here momentarily.

Secretary Perry of the local Telegraphers' Union today told the United Press that Pittsburgh operators
had no alternatives with the local company and he did not anticipate
a strike.

SUMMIT SUNDAY SCHOOL

Will Hold Its Annual Meeting at Shady Grove.

The annual meeting of the Summit
Sunday School will be held Wednesday, August 21, at Shady Grove. Free transportation will be furnished to all members of the school. A special car has been chartered and a special invitation is extended to all members
and friends of the congregation desiring to attend.

Elaborate preparations are being made by Col. J. J. Barnhart, chairman of the committee, and a most enjoyable time is anticipated.

COUNTERFEITERS.

Five Foreigners Arrested at Smithfield
and Will Be Given a Hearing
This Afternoon.

SMITHFIELD, Aug. 10.—Five foreigners were arrested yesterday afternoon at Smithfield works at 3 o'clock
charged with counterfeiting.
Constable James Abrams, a stated by Chester Wheeler and William Hardin made the "raid." Six of the foreigners were arrested earlier in the day
and later the other three were taken in.

The house in which the men were arrested was a regular night, dispatches and paraphernalia of all descriptions being in use. The officers seized quite a few samples of spurious coin, ranging from five cent
pieces to dollars. The coins look excellent, the only apparent detectable
fact of their being spurious is that they appear to be light. It is said
that one of the men served a six year
sentence in it for counterfeiting.

The neighborhood has been freed
of with but more for some time.
Their passing it at the local store
caused them to be watched and their
method of making money learned.
Magistrate H. O'Neill of Smithfield,
after consulting with the District Attorney, committed the men to jail,
in order to hold them for the United States officials.

The men arrested are Martin and John Karlin, Charles Zrubik, Thomas Olsender and Steve Kovarik. All
are foreigners, and it is something
unusual for men of this nationality
to be engaged in such practices. They will be given a hearing here Monday
at 10 o'clock at Uniontown next Monday.
In addition to the charge of counterfeiting, the men are also accused of "arresting and receiving stolen goods," a large number of articles belonging to the Wharton Coke Company having been found in their possession.

FIRST VIOLENCE

Of Telegraphers' Strike Occurred in Chicago Today.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—
The first violence as a result of the telegraphers' strike occurred early today when strike-breakers were set on
by supposed union telegraphers and badly beaten. Trouble appears inevitable today. Secretary Russell is endeavoring to organize a strike's execution to temporarily camp at some resort across the lake.

HAD TALKED OF TAKING LIFE.

Health Broke Down After He Quit
Drinking—Unfortunate Man Was
Well Known About Town and for Years Had Worked About Hotels.

George Francis committed suicide
about 7:30 o'clock last evening by leaping from a third story window of the Hass Hotel on Water street. Death came about five minutes after he was taken to the Cottage State Hospital.
His health was the cause of his rash
act.

Francis had not been well for several months. His health broke under the weakening effects of continuous indulgence in liquor. For years he had been a heavy drinker. Three weeks ago he quit drinking and from that time until last night he had not touched a drop. His system, however,
broke down completely when denied drinking too sudden for a man who had indulged so long and often. Instead of improving his health became worse and no longer was he able to do the odd jobs around the hotel to which he had been accustomed. For several days he had been confined to his room in the Hass House. He was well cared for by the proprietors of the Hotel.

He had talked for several days of
taking his life, but no one thought him
in earnest. Last evening, however, he was in better spirits than ever. To the girl who brought his supper he expressed belief that he was getting well. Fifteen minutes later he was a corpse.

Two railroad men sitting by the old
signal box in the B. & O. yards, opposite the hotel, saw something drop from an upstairs window. They thought at first something had been thrown out. Not liking the looks of things, they investigated, and found
he injured man lying in the alley.
Proprietor M. Roland was notified and Francis was removed to the hall of the hotel. Dr. H. F. Atkinson was summoned, and he directed that the ambulance be sent for. It was seen that Francis was beyond mortal aid.

The body was removed to the understanding establishment of J. E. Sims
and prepared for burial. Services will be held there at 4 o'clock this afternoon, Rev. C. M. Watson of the Christian Church officiating. Interment in Hill Grove Cemetery.

Francis never married. He was well known among the older residents of town. He practically lived his life
for many years past on Water street
and was seldom seen off that thoroughfare. By making himself useful
around the various hotels, he had no trouble securing from them board and lodging. His worst fault was indurgence in drink, but was always known as a quiet and peaceful citizen. He was about 46 years of age.

JOHN HERBERT DEAD.

Former Well Known Resident Died
Yesterday Morning at Brother's Home at Scottsdale.

John J. Herbert, aged 60 years, a former well known resident of Con-nellville, died yesterday morning at 10 o'clock at the home of his brother,
Charles E. Herbert, at Scottsdale. Funeral tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.
Interment at Scottsdale.

Deceased was the son of Joseph and Ann Herbert, both deceased, and was born in Connellville. When a young man he moved to Scottsdale with his parents, where he remained until he was the age of 18, when he left for Chattanooga, Tenn., residing there up until four weeks ago when he returned to Scottsdale. He was married to Miss Ada Brothhead of Chattanooga.
Her death occurred a year ago last month. Since that time Mr. Herbert
has been in poor health. He is survived by three children, Nellie and George of Scottsdale, and Ada of Denver, Col. The following brothers and sisters also survive: Mrs. D. K. Art-
man of Connellville, Mrs. Lida Okle-vee, Mrs. C. W. Stauffer, A. H. and
C. E. Herbert of Scottsdale, and W. K.
Herbert of McKeesport.

commuted to life imprisonment.

2,000 MOORS KILLED.

French and Spanish Inflict Heavy Punishment on Fanatical Tribesmen.

GEN. DRUDE'S CAMP ATTACKED

Repeated Assaults Made Upon French Position Outside, Casablanca, All of Which Are Repulsed With Heavy Loss—Muley Amin More Humble.

Casablanca Aug 10.—The Moors last night renewed their attempt to invade Casablanca but were repulsed with heavy losses by the fire from the warships. All the consulates here are now guarded by Mankheim's guns. The total of the Moorish losses here is estimated at 2,000.

News has been received here that Arab tribesmen, who had gathered from the surrounding country to the number of five or six thousand swept down upon General Drude's camp outside Casablanca. They were driven off with considerable loss. Later they renewed the attack and again were repulsed. The French troops are in splendid condition and spirits. The warships supported them during this attack by keeping up a steady shelling on the horsemen.

When the French consul from Casablanca arrived here he received a letter from Muley Amin, the governor of Casablanca, officially approving the action of the French forces and asking the aid of France in inflicting punishment upon agitators.

The latest advices received here do not confirm the reported bombardment of Mankheim. Advices from Mankheim say everything was quiet there and that no trouble was apprehended unless European complications resulted from the bombardment of Casablanca. Morocco city is quiet.

A dispatch received here from Alcasar says that the chief of the Kinasa tribe with 400 armed followers presented himself last Monday at the camp of the bandit Raisul and took Raisul and his son, Harry MacLean, his English prisoner to Asagha where the entire tribe assembled with the intention of negotiating with Mohammed El Torres representing the sultan for the surrender of MacLean. Mohammed El Torres, the representative of the sultan for foreign affairs, has requested the American minister to Morocco Samuel R. Gurnea, to move with his household from his country residence into Tangier.

Additional advices from Casablanca are to the effect that the Spanish consul there was attacked early Wednesday morning by the Arabs and only saved by the timely arrival of a detachment of French bluejackets who drove off the assailants.

The total number of French and Spanish killed and wounded is placed at 15. The French troops brought in from Algeria have captured large stocks of sheep.

INDUSTRY HALTED

Unions and Employers' Association in Death Grapple at Washington. Washington Aug 10.—As a result of the general strike of building trades unions, union mechanics failed to report for work on buildings being constructed by contractors affiliated with the Employers' association. Fourteen buildings representing a total cost of more than $1,000,000 are tied up. Fifty non-union mechanics from New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh went to work on the new Academy of Music one of the buildings affected.

The Employers' association maintains that it is not fighting union men but that they will not tolerate the "illegal shop." The strikers reply that they are not fighting their employers but will not tolerate the open shop.

IRON MEN FAIL TO AGREE

Amalgamated and Company Representatives in Session. Erie Pa. Aug 10.—Advices from Cambridge Springs report that a meeting of the Amalgamated association of the Republic Iron & Steel Company and Western Bar Iron Association with the grievance committee of the steel workers is in progress at the Hotel Rider in that place. The report further states that both sides have split on an agreement that was given out as unanimous. Over 45,000 workers throughout the country will be affected by the results of the conference.

Patterson Tackles Big Job. Nashville Tenn. Aug 10.—Governor Patterson has issued a call for a conference of textile manufacturers and labor representatives in all southern states to be held in Nashville October 14. He considers the question of child labor and female labor in shops and factories, with a view of adopting uniform laws that will be agreeable and just to the respective parties in interest.

Saves Life By Drawing Snake Wound. Oil City Pa. Aug 10.—Nathan Belkley a machinist was bitten on the hand by a copperhead snake while working at a reservoir near here. He doubtless owes his life to the heroic action of John Reid who killed the reptile and the flesh part of Belkley's hand with a penknife and drew the poison from the wound with his mouth. Belkley is severely ill but physicians say he will recover.

One's own thistle field is dearer to him than his neighbor's garden of roses.—German Proverb.

Rockefeller Says He Carries
Cares of Workingmen and Investors on Shoulders.

OIL KING ISSUES STATEMENT

In Which He Presents His Side of Case—Prosecution of Railroads He Calls Persecution—His Point of View Clearly Set Forth.

Cleveland, Aug. 10.—John D. Rockefeller, in discussing the recent speech of Judge Grosscup in which the latter declared that the wealth of the country was so widely distributed that it was really in the hands of the well-to-do class, said:

"They can hardly accuse Judge Grosscup of partiality to corporations or railroads. He has shown very well indeed how widespread is the damage resulting from the persecution, through prejudice, of the country's transportation lines. The same applies to the thoughtless attacks on other lines of industry. It is worse than thoughtless to say that the wealth and the industries of the country are in the hands of a few rich men, who alone will suffer. There is a direct loss to thousands of frugal people who have invested small savings in these enterprises and the indirect effect reaches still other thousands who depend in one way or another upon the success of every industry. The business of the country is interwoven until it is something like the circulation of the blood in the body. An injury or an operation at one point shocks and weakens the whole."

Referring to the financial situation Mr. Rockefeller remarked:

Rockefeller an investor.
"Who is more interested in the material prosperity of this country than I am? My eggs are not all in one basket by any means. A good deal of nonsense is printed every now and then about my having captured all the railroads of the country or having monopolized this or that. The truth is that I figure as an investor and stockholder rather than as a proprietor. But any depression is likely to mean a loss of values to me. The grocery man may not feel it if the coal business is bad, but the man with wider interests feels every phase of depression. I do not mean that I am in the grocery, or coal or wheat business. I am using this illustration. It is a fact that hardly any sort of business can experience dull times without loss to me. It should be plain, then, that I have the best right to be anxious for good times all around. Would I permit, then any hard to come to any line of business if I could help it?"

Working for the People.
"I am harnessed to a cart in which the people ride," continued Mr. Rockefeller. "Whether I like it or not I must work for the rest. I cannot evade this responsibility. If I would, but I do not complain of this. I am willing to draw my share of the load as long as I am able."

"The first step I took," he said, "meant obligating myself to workingmen who henceforward looked to me for employment, and investors who put in their money and looked to me for results. At every step forward the load was heavier. The workingmen numbered a few score first, then a few hundreds, then thousands. There was a similar increase in the number of investors who could hold me to account. While I worked for myself I had to work for them whether or no. Today, retired from active business, retired, that is, from business for myself, the capital I have invested makes work for thousands and open opportunities for other thousands to place their savings profitably. No man with money can escape this responsibility or loosen this yoke from his neck."

"We are servants, and no masters we who are or have been engaged in large business affairs. It is to our vital interest that the country prosper, that the people prosper. They can destroy us or our business, or at least destroy our power of serving them. We would probably suffer the least. The richest man can eat but three meals a day and it does not take a fortune to dress very well indeed, or to provide real luxury in living."

The Struggle For More.
"The men who have acquired the largest fortunes have not pursued wealth but business success. Had they desired money for the enjoyment of money they would have stopped for short of spending their lives, as they have, in the struggle that is business. The natural ambition of every man to make good provision for his family can be satisfied for short of the point reached by the big men of the industrial world of today. But they continue to toil at their desks because they love achievement, for the keen delight in creating where nothing was, and sometimes, I believe, people will be convinced that they are toiling for love of country as well."

When it comes to the attacks upon him and his associates, Mr. Rockefeller shows himself the philosopher. He does not pretend to like the assaults, nor does he pretend to haughty indifference, and he is not affectedly indifferent in his comments. But he is not bitter toward those who assail him. He says it is a misunderstanding that will right itself in time. He frankly regrets it but he seems even more distressed at what he considers the danger of losing a good opportunity to capture the trade of the world than over the personal phase of the attacks.

"We are proud of our national sense of good humor," he remarked. "If we must have little family jars among ourselves, why should we let the outside world laugh at our angry faces? Why should we waste the energy we need to build up the country in tearing each other to pieces? If evils have crept in during the periods of marvelous development since the Civil war, and it is not impossible that some few have crept in, can we not do away with them without destroying the whole fabric? Admitting for the sake of argument, that the business world is a patient that needs treatment, must it be said of the result that the operation was successful but the patient died?"

Mr. Rockefeller was asked why he did not run away from the hue and cry that pursued him. He laughed:

Refuses to Run Away.
"Perhaps," because my favorite music is 'Yakkee Doodle,'" he suggested. Then, more gravely: "I suppose I might have converted my interests into gold at one time and have taken part of Europe where life is organized to make things comfortable for the man with money to spend. But, do you know that way of escape from the responsibilities and embarrassments that wealth brings to an American never occurred to me. The United States cannot develop enough drawbacks to make me lose the feeling that there is no place like home, and that this is home. In what I firmly believe is the greatest country of the world."

STANDARD OIL SLUMPS

Lowest Point in Many Years Reached
in Stock Market.

New York, Aug. 10.—Several stocks quoted in New York have fallen to new low record levels. Notable among them was Standard Oil, which at one time during the day reached 466, the lowest point touched in many years. A little later the stock was offered at 475 with no bidders. Several years ago Standard Oil sold above $500 per share and the latest quotation indicated a shrinkage in value, computed on the total capital stock, of more than $300,000,000. Other stocks that sold at a new low level were the common and preferred shares of the Interborough Metropolitan company, which operates the consolidated traction lines on Manhattan island. Interborough Metropolitan common sold at 41 and the preferred at 33 1/2. This figure is about one-half the price of several months ago.

The general stock market was weak. There was no news to account for the falling away of prices, and no excitement on the stock exchange. The desire to sell was not especially urgent but there seemed to be little or no demand for stocks and in order to effect sales brokers were obliged to accept constantly lower prices.

SAY QUANTRELL LIVES

Leader of War Time Guerrillas in British Columbia.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 10.—Bill Quantrell, leader of Quantrell's guerrillas in the Civil war, who, according to history, died of wounds at a Kentucky hospital after his raiders were cut up in a battle with the Union army, is alive and living at Quantrell on the northwest coast of Vancouver Island under the name of John Sharp. According to a number of persons who have conversed with him, J. B. Duff, a prominent tradesman at Quantrell, recognized John Sharp, who is over 70, wiry and gray as Quantrell. Duff, having been a member of the Michigan troop of cavalry which cut up Quantrell's force. He stated to Duff that he was correct in his recognition.

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 10.—Mention of the discovery of W. C. Quantrell as being alive in British Columbia calls to mind the fact that in the state historical rooms here are two skull bones and a lock of hair supposed to be those of the famous raider. They have been there since May, 1888 when the mother of Quantrell and W. W. Scott of Canal City, Ga., opened the grave said to hold Quantrell at Louisville, Ky.

ROBBER IDENTIFIED

Wounded Safe-Cracker Was Once Part of Blinky Morgan.

Cleveland, Aug. 10.—Chief of Police Kohler has identified one of the robbers who was wounded and captured following the attempt to rob the Farmers and Merchants bank of Strongsville as Charles Proctor, an old-time crook, who has been associated with Charles Lowery, George Foster, Kid McManis of the Blinky Morgan gang and Everett Wood of the old Constable gang.

Although there are over 100 look-alikes in Proctor's back he is expected to recover unless blood poison sets in. The other two robbers still are at large.

Reading, Pa., Aug. 10.—George Stovall and Frank Delahanty, who were suspended by the Cleveland American League club several days ago, will become members of the Reading club of the Atlantic league, according to an announcement by the management of the Reading club. The Atlantic League is known in baseball as an outlaw league.

Pittsburg, Aug. 10.—George Wallace Delamater, by his suicide left his widow wealthy. It was first reported that he carried $97,000 in life insurance but it develops that the aggregate of his insurance policies is over $200,000, all in favor of Mrs. Delamater. He also left $20,000 in cash realized from the insurance of his son and investments which it is estimated will bring the total of his estate to about $300,000.

OUR NEXT SERIAL STORY,

"Kidnaped Millionaires,"

A Thrilling Story of Wall Street and the Tropics.

Begins Monday, August 12th.

From Westmoreland's County Seat.

GREENSBURG, Aug. 10.—South-west Greensburg has a school situation which promises some interesting developments. Hugh Henderson, G. A. Wineman and H. V. Boyer, members of the School Board, have appealed from the Auditors' report. Much feeling has been caused by the action. When the Auditors met to go over the accounts, they took exception to a number of warrants that had been issued. Some of these were for supplies purchased from the Greensburg Trading Company, in which G. A. Wineman is interested. It is claimed that the friction is the result of some trouble several years ago, when the compulsory school law was rigidly enforced, and when a teacher, it is said, was dismissed before the end of the school term. The Directors say they will add additional charges against the Auditors, claiming that they did not meet at the usual time, and that their report was not properly filed with the Board of Directors.

The report of Controller John D. Mitchem, for the month of July just passed, shows that the County Home is the most expensive institution in the county during the summer months, $5,357.25 was expended for the maintenance of that institution during the month. The county is a little short of funds just now, but before the end of the month County Treasurer Board will receive the first installment taxes, and this will turn a considerable amount of money into the county treasury.

There is a little controversy on between the Judges of Westmoreland county and the County Commissioners over when the new court house shall be occupied. The County Commissioners' office are now completed, and these proud county dais want to get into their new quarters as quickly as possible. The court holds on the other hand, that it will not be a wise policy for the entire building to move before the entire building is ready for occupancy. The entire building will not be ready before October 1st.

Mrs. Josiah Runbaugh, one of the oldest women in Greensburg, died last night at her home in Oakland avenue, 72 years old. She is survived by her husband, and several sons and daughters residing here.

Contact with the business end of a mile resulted badly for John Moriarty at South Greensburg yesterday afternoon. Two teeth were lost in the encounter.

The newspapers of Greensburg were several hours late yesterday on account of lightning striking the sub station of the West Penn company here. The electric storm was very severe in this section.

UNION VESPER SERVICES.

They Will Be Held Tomorrow Evening at Library Grounds.

The union vesper services will be held on the library grounds tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock. Should the weather be unfavorable the meeting will be held in one of the nearby churches. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Leigh Leggett, pastor of the Methodist Protestant Church. The male quartet from the Trinity Lutheran Church will sing.

These meetings have been very helpful thus far, fully one thousand people greeting the speaker on last Sunday evening. Come, bringing your friends with you.

THE RUBBER TREE.

How the Milk Is Treated After the Plant Is Tapped.

Para rubber is obtained from a large tree sixty feet high. The tree is tapped in the evening, and the juice is collected on the following morning. A deep horizontal incision is made near the base of the tree, and then from it a vertical one extending up the trunk, with others at short distances in an oblique direction. Small shallow cups made from clay and dried in the sun are placed below the incisions to receive the milk, each cup being attached by sticking a piece of soft clay to the tree and pressing the cup against it. Each tree yields only about six ounces of juice in three days.

To produce the rubber the juice is heated in the following manner: A piece of wood about three feet long, with a flattened clay mold at one end of it is dipped in the milk, or the milk is placed over it as evenly as possible. The milk is then carefully dried by turning the mold round and round in a white vapor obtained by heating certain oily palm nuts, the vapor being confined within certain limits by the narrowness of the neck of the pot in which the nuts are heated. Each layer of rubber is allowed to become firm before adding another. A practiced hand can make five or six pounds an hour.—New York American.

Bishop Potter's "Job."

To illustrate a point he was making in an address he was delivering the other day Bishop Potter told the following story, says Harper's Weekly: "Not long ago I was staying with a friend in a country house up on the Hudson. On Sunday morning as I passed through the library I found a small boy curled up in a big chair deeply interested in a book. 'Are you going to church, Tom?' I asked. 'No,' he replied. 'Why, I am,' I said. 'Eh,' he said, 'that's your job!'"

Nearly one-half the people of this country still live under rural conditions, and one-third of the workers of the country are tillers of the soil.

The next best thing to spending the summer at the seashore is being a small boy with school out and the farm work working overtime.

Democracy in the Colleges.

The tendency among college boys to fall in with cliques and groups too often ends in a weakening of democratic ideals which is deplorable from a social point of view. Young men are encouraged to go away to school in order to talk with the world and become broad minded. As a rule the school clique breeds intellectual narrowness and makes for social exclusiveness. Another fault of the clique system is pointed out by President Wilson of Princeton university, who has recently explained his plan for breaking the hold which club life has upon the students under his control. The younger students, he says, concentrate their time and effort upon the means of preference among their fellows, to the neglect of the interests of the university. His plan of reform is outlined in these words:

My plan is to draw the undergraduates together into residential "houses" (quadrangles), in which they shall live as well as lodge, and in which they shall, under the direction of a member of the faculty, regulate their own corporate life by some simple method of self government. For this purpose it would be necessary to place all future dormitories in such relation to those already erected as to form geographical units and to erect in connection with each group a kitchen, dining and serving rooms and a handsome common room for social purposes. Every undergraduate would be required actually to live in his quad, and the residence would be made up as nearly as possible of members of every class.

The grouping of students is not peculiar to higher institutions of learning. It exists in most private and preparatory schools, and recently the authorities have felt called upon to suppress fraternities among pupils in public schools. In the richer colleges these tendencies have been encouraged, and the evil effects have spread through the whole college world. The university, from which young men go out into the world, biased if not educated, in the place where the mischief of earlier years may be undone. At least the experiment of President Wilson is worth making. Princeton has no fraternities, but has thirteen class clubs, each maintaining its own clubhouse. These clubs at Princeton are less democratic than fraternities, for the latter take members from all classes, whereas membership in a class club is restricted to the class. If this matter of college exclusiveness has become a serious evil the faculties may be in part to blame. Learning is unduly exalted, and professors assume before the students the attitude that scholarship is the possession and the prize of a guild which only the elect may enter.

Fate of a Boer War Hero.

When Colonel Lynch returned to Ireland after leading a brigade of his countrymen in aid of the Transvaal Boers it was thought to be an act of extreme cruelty for the British government to try him for high treason. His constituents rewarded his valor by electing him to the British parliament. His government slapped him into jail.

However, the gallant soldier was released from prison, and now that the Irish are to be appeased the government saves itself from the odium of tyranny by pardoning the soldier, thus making it possible for him to enter parliament and legislate for his old comrades of the Transvaal. With the former Boer chieftain, Botha, holding the office of premier in his colony and one of his brigadiers in the British parliament, the Liberals are making good their professions of broad views in politics.

American "citizens" who have returned to their mother countries to live, holding their naturalization papers as diplomatic clubs, are grieved to find their positions threatened by the citizenship clause of the new naturalization law. Their sorrow will not be in fictions. The feeling that protection and privilege under the stars and stripes are worth something more than a cry in the hour of need is still prevalent over here.

It is announced that steel made by a newly discovered process will make our battleships tougher, and, of course, even straight lined Americans want our battleships to be "as tough as they make 'em."

It must deeply impress the peace men at The Hague to notice how much Spain and Russia are doing to keep Japan and the United States from muzzling up the universe with each other.

By prohibiting tramps from strolling rides on freight trains the railways inflict still another injury on the rural communities that are trying to keep the mendicants on the move.

Even the news that diamonds are becoming cheaper is not likely to lighten the heart of the man who has been keeping track of the price of meat.

After a boy gets his home and picture in the papers by saving some one from drowning his parents kindly forget that they forbade him to go in swimming.

Quida's pension for services to literature is $750 a year, and now Mario Correll is figuring up the sum her "services" should bring on a square deal.

Enjoyment of a "swollen" fortune is more or less curtailed by the necessity of being constantly in communication with the lawyers.

DUN'S REVIEW OF TRADE.

New York, Aug. 10.—Dun's Weekly Review of Trade says today:

"Jobbing trade in fall and winter goods is active at the leading cities, country merchants being in large attendance and operating freely as a rule. Retail sales of seasonable merchandise are liberal, although at some points customary midsummer quiet is noted. While payments are somewhat irregular, mercantile collections show distinct improvement on the whole. A few labor disputes are pending, but there is little interruption in the leading industries, most manufacturing plants working full time and holding orders that promise continued activity. Commodity prices are lower, especially in cases where speculative inflation exist, favorable weather having greatly improved crop prospects.

"New business in the iron and steel industry is light and some quotations have become firmer and many steel mills are sold well into the next year. Steel rails are in better demand, a liberal tonnage of new contracts is pending this week and material is sought by car shops and ship yards. A few additional orders for cotton ties have come forward, but most of the season's requirements were purchased some time ago and are now being delivered."

Haugh's Widow Asks Insurance.
Cincinnati, Aug. 10.—Mrs. Anna Haugh, widow of Oliver C. Haugh, the triple murderer of Dayton, O., who was executed at Columbus some months ago, has brought suit for the recovery of $3,000, the amount of a policy held by her on the life of her husband. She alleges that the company accepted premiums from her while her husband was in the annex at the penitentiary under sentence of death and after he had been refused clemency by the governor and pardon board, but that payment was refused after he had been executed.

Lovers Waylaid and Shot.
Bloomington, Ind., Aug. 10.—John McClintock, age 22, and Miss Edna Rogers, 19, were waylaid and shot last night while returning from an entertainment. McClintock was killed. Miss Rogers will recover. The shooting was done in the front yard of Miss Rogers' home. Harvey Hinkle, an admirer of Miss Rogers, has disappeared.

Safekeeping the Pacific.

Whatever shall be the outcome of the much heralded movement of a fleet of battleships from the Atlantic to the Pacific, it has served to call attention to problems on the other side of the world. The world has long been talking of the possibility of the Japanese striking a blow at our Pacific interests which might momentarily prove paralyzing. If the blow is possible for Japan so it might be for another naval power. In 1898 Spain had her fleet at home and in consequence lost her distant possessions.

War comes without warning, and a naval power is always ready to strike at the weak point of her foe. Sometimes the existence of a weak point is a temptation to strike the first blow. Japan was not thought of when our policy for the Pacific coast and the Pacific ocean was laid down. If she now sees fit to object to the normal development of that policy it is well to be prepared to defend our dignity in diplomatic councils and elsewhere.

Marconi declares that, though he is yet experimenting with wireless telegraphy in the hope of establishing trans-oceanic communication, he does not purpose to begin business until he is sure he can keep it up. This explanation is timely, but it is not convincing as to the main proposition.

From the extravagant manner in which "Fra Elbertus" Hubbard praises his wife it is evident that he doesn't have to get his own breakfast in the morning nor push the lawn mower around in the summer.

Some of the absurd restrictions on the printing on postal cards are to be abolished. This is a step forward. For a quarter of a century the annoyance of citizens hasn't saved the government a cent.

Fine Job Work of all Kind at this office

The McWilliams Special

By FRANK H. SPEARMAN

Copyright, 1934, by Frank H. Spearman

"Me? I've got $1,200,000 in gold coin in this car for the Sierra Leone National bank—that's all. Didn't you know that five big banks there closed their doors yesterday? Worst panic in the United States. That's what I'm here for and five hundred bucks in me eating and sleeping in this car," continued Ferguson, looking ahead. "You're not going to tackle that bridge, are you?"

"We are and right off. If there's any of your bucks want to drop out, now's their chance," said Pat Kennedy as Sinclair slowed up for his run.

Ferguson called his men. The five with their rifles, came cautiously forward.

"Bos," said Ferguson briefly, "there's a bridge ahead. These guys are going to try to run it. It's not in your contract, that kind of a chance. Do you want to get out? I stay with this specie, myself. You can do exactly as you please. Murray, what do you say?" he asked, addressing the leader of the force, who appeared to weigh about 260.

"What do I say?" echoed Murray with decision, as he looked for a soft place to alight alongside the track. "I say I'll drop out right here. I don't mind train robbers, but I don't tackle a burning bridge—not if I know it," and he jumped off.

"Well, Peters," asked Ferguson of the second man coming, "do you want to stay?"

"Me?" echoed Peters, looking ahead at the mass of flame leaping upward. "Me stay? Well, not in a thousand years. You can run, Mr. Ferguson, and send my check to 320 Milwaukee avenue, if you please. Gentlemen, good day." And off went Peters.

And off went every last man of the valiant detectives except one lame fellow, who said he would just as lie dead as alive anyway and declared he would stay with Ferguson and die rich.

Sinclair, thinking he might never get another chance, was whispering sharply for orders. Francis, breathless with the news, ran forward.

"Coin? How much? Twelve hundred thousand. Where?" cried Sinclair. "Swing up, Pat. We're off."

The five-Nine cuttered herself with a spring. Even the engineer's heart quailed as they got underway. He knew his rails hadn't buckled they were perfectly safe, for the heavy train would stand a lot of burning before giving way under a swiftly moving train.

Only, as they flew forward, the five-Nine cuttered herself with a spring. Even the engineer's heart quailed as they got underway. He knew his rails hadn't buckled they were perfectly safe, for the heavy train would stand a lot of burning before giving way under a swiftly moving train.

Jerry MacElroy crouched low under the engine. Sinclair jumped from his box and stood with a hand on the throttle and a hand on the air, the glass cracking around his head like hail. A blast of fiery air and flying cinders burst and clouded him. The engine, alive with danger, flew like a greivous monkey along the writing steel.

So quick, so black, so hot the blast and so terrific the heat, that the five-Nine cuttered herself with a spring. Even the engineer's heart quailed as they got underway. He knew his rails hadn't buckled they were perfectly safe, for the heavy train would stand a lot of burning before giving way under a swiftly moving train.

There was a leave in the middle like the lurch of a seafaring steamer, and with it the five-Nine got her paws on cool iron and solid ground, and the Matatabi and the blaze, all except a dozen tongues which licked the cab and the roof of the baggage car and the engine, were behind. George Sinclair, shaking the hot glass out of his hair, looked ahead through his frizzled eyelids and gave her a full bend for the western bluffs of the valley; then looked at his watch.

It was the one hundred and ninety-third milepost just at his nose, and the dial read 3:55 to a second. "There was an hour to the good and seventy-six miles and a water to cover, but they were seventy-six of the prettiest miles under ballast anywhere, and the five-Nine reeled them off like a cylinder press. Seventy-nine minutes later Sinclair whistled for the Denver yards.

There was a tremendous commotion among the waiting engines. If there was one there were fifty big locomotives waiting to chug out the McWilliams Special. The wires had told the story in Denver long before, and as the five-Nine sailed ponderously up the gridiron every mogul, every consolidated, every ten wheeler, every hog, every switch bumper, every all-horse scoured in uproarious welcome to Sinclair Sinclair and the sky-scaper.

They had broken every record from McCloud to Denver, and all knew it, but as the McWilliams Special drew swiftly past every last man in the yards stared at her cracked, peeled, blistered, haggard looks.

"What the deuce have you bit into?" cried the depot master as the five-Nine swept splendidly up and stopped with her battered eye hard on the depot clock.

"Tatataback bridge is burned. Had to crawl over on the stringers," answered Sinclair, coughing up a cloud.

"Where's the McWilliams?"

"Back there sitting on his grief, I reckon."

While the crew went up to register two big four horse trucks backed up to the baggage car, and in a minute a dozen men were rolling specie kegs out of the door, which was smashed in, as being quicker than to tear open the barricades.

Sinclair, MacElroy and Franz with his trunkmen were surrounded by a crowd of railroad men. As they stood answering questions a big prosperous-looking banker with black hair under his eyes, pushed in toward them, accompanied by the lame fellow, who had been the chance of a lifetime to the rich, and by Ferguson, who had told the story.

The banker shook hands with each one of the crew. "You've saved us," he said. "I needed it. There's a mob of 5,000 of the worst scoundrels in America camped at the doors, and by the way, now we're fixed for every one of them. Come up to the bank. I want you to ride right up with me to a all of you."

It was an unmercifully good occasion, but an unmercifully outlandish one. Fifty policemen made the escort and cleared the way for the trucks to pull up across the sidewalk, so the bankers could lug the kegs of gold into the bank before the very eyes of the railroad depositors.

In an hour the run was broken. But when the four railroad men left the bank after all sorts of hugging by excited clerks, they carried not only the blessings of the public, but each in his vest pocket a check, every one of which disclosed the biggest windfall ever drawn on the West End for a month's pay, though I wrote a condolence in stating that George Sinclair was bigger than any two of the others. And this is how it happens that there hangs in the directors' room of the Sierra Leone National a very creditable portrait of the kid engineer.

Besides paying tariff on the specie, the bank paid for a new coat of paint for the McWilliams Special from a house to pilot. She was the last train across the Matatabi for two weeks.

Professor Swallowed It All.
The scholarly William E. Byerly, professor of mathematics at Harvard, was once asked by a student how to develop a retentive memory. The professor answered that ordinary mental exercise was sufficient to secure a good memory, whereas the student asked if he might test the mental capacity of his instructor. Professor Byerly agreed, and the student asked him to listen to and remember several varied items for a test. He began:

"One quart of whiskey."
"Six pounds of sugar, a pint of sour milk, three onions, half a gallon of molasses and two raw eggs."
"Two green apples, twenty-six pennies, one and a half cucumbers and four silver pins."

"A package of soap, six silver buttons of green and the skins of seven bananas. That that down?"

"Yes," answered Dr. Byerly.

"How does it taste?" asked the student.—Boston Herald.

Close Questioning.
In recalling incidents connected with Virginia politics some years ago, a prominent Virginian recently related to a Washington man an account of an investigation of election frauds in the latter section of the state. In the course of the proceedings it developed that the ballots had been unsealed, but had not been sealed after the final count, thereby being exposed to fraudulent practices. The chairman of the investigating committee closely questioned the election judge as to why the prescribed duty of carefully securing the ballots had been neglected.

"Could you not obtain any mullage in the town?"

"No, sir."

"Could you not procure some sealing wax—some shomaker's wax, if nothing else?"

"Well, then, sir, why didn't you go out into the woods and get some resin? Do you mean to tell me that there were no pine trees around there shedding tears at your infamous rascality?"—Washington Star.

The Bible of the Poor.
The "Bible of the Poor" was one of the most interesting of the early black books, which were printed in Belgium in the fourteenth century, before the use of movable type, from blocks. The book consisted of forty leaves, printed on one side, making twenty when pasted together, and gave a pictorial representation of scenes from the life and passion of our Lord, with suitable inscriptions from holy writ in the abbreviated Latin of the period. The "Bible of the Poor" was so called, was intended as an aid to devotion for the use of poor persons who could not afford to buy complete copies of the Bible. Originally the book is believed to have been specially designed for the poor felars, who found the pictures useful when they went about preaching, to illustrate their sermons and to rouse the interest of their congregations. A richly illuminated MS. of the "Bible of the Poor," executed in the Netherlands about 1400, is kept in the British museum.

Women's Trades Unions.

A variety of views as to the future of women's trades unions was displayed at the recent conventions of leagues held in the principal cities. It is self evident that the women cannot as speedily attain success as have the men, because they have not the voting power of the men. Unquestionably the suffrage has helped men to make their case heard. Protestants who may keep their heads up until the next election are not to be wined aside.

Even without the ballot the women are finding that the development of unions is a means of progress. Leagues of unions have become necessary and are a step toward the nationalization of interests and efforts. The organization and management of women's social clubs are object lessons in practical politics for the classes which engage in this work. Workingwomen should not be outdone by women of more leisure and opportunity, for if the ballot is given to the sex it must mean more to the toilers than to those whose interests are mainly social. It is a long way between a woman for a cause in a convention and a lobby to that cause at the polls. This is an important truth for women leaders to learn. They may learn it in local unions and in conventions of federated unions. And, taking to get the ballot they may also learn in those movements of organization and cooperation how to wield for the common good that political influence they undoubtedly have now among their relatives, friends and associates who are already voters.

Our Backing of Cuba.
It has cost over $100,000 for this country to keep order in Cuba for months. Of course the money will be repaid out of the Cuban treasury, and instead of our "bail-in," the happy island now that she is in a sad plight is claimed by her friends of natives that we are not then paying our own way—that is to say, Cuba can well afford to keep American protection even though it cost $100,000.

It is Cuban public opinion which holds that the provisional government set up by the United States should last and last indefinitely. The argument by Cuban conservatives is that the moment the Americans withdraw the country will be at the mercy of conflicting classes and political parties. Another is not denied in this case, for it is held that a not less heinous distant the present political chaos and "revolution" is a Cuba will be out. American example in all this time will teach the people to work, the security guaranteed by American occupation will convince them that it pays to work, for the sake of the seed and not a king of loafing hands will reap the harvest. This view makes Uncle Sam a paid police officer, and unless he shrinks the job it is good for ten or a dozen years longer.

It may be that stronger rules are needed than are now in use at the best roads to enforce the extra trains put up by them by high speed trains, and railroad men and passengers are due to center on the subject. But the best rail in the world and the best road with not prevent disasters where care and employees have to stand guard that ought to be closed, stand trains on tracks on which express are approaching unswayed and around a curve, rush trains on tracks occupied by others and do other things noted in the frequent accidents of the line.

A French diplomat says that the United States is up against trouble in the Pacific and that it is a losing to the "Swissness in dealing to Panama canal." Perhaps the French learned the canal trick during their twenty years of failure and would sell us a few pointers.

And now the German wine growers are moving toward government investigation of the wine trade. The Chicago packers can assure them that agitation of this sort ends down sales, and to sell much is of more consequence than to sell what is good.

The Japanese are entitled to all the instruction they can get from American schools, but the line must be drawn when it comes to educating themselves in our forts and navy yards.

With that $87,000,000 surplus in the treasury the incoming congress will be busy dodging people who have suggestions to offer as to the best way to dispose of it.

If Admiral Evans really believes that Americans do not talk it must be that he has overlooked a few columns of remarks attributed to himself.

Some of the Philippines think Japan would give them independence. They should talk it over with the Koreans—and think again.

Unfortunately there is no method of bringing the horrors of a Fourth of July celebration up for consideration at The Hague.

Predictions by Tolstol of the downfall of the United States, of course, have the Fourth of July named of Maxim Gorky.

No nation ever got out of a tight foot and owned up in advance that it wanted war.

Peace as a Fetish.

With all their good intentions professional peace-makers sometimes make matters worse by patching up peace for the name of it. Peace hanging solely by a thread is not worth working for. Recently Baroness Von Suttner, the apostle of peace, whose call to the nations to lay down their arms won her the Nobel peace prize, put in a word on the situation between this country and Japan. She advised the Korean delegates to the peace conference at The Hague not to return to the far east by way of America lest their visit here should be as under laid on a fire and possibly—possibly—incense the fiction. If the Koreans come here we might learn afresh the story of Japan's high handed work in the Korean peninsula, that the shadow of native authority maintained at Seoul by Japan is the veriest absurdity and that while Japan is publicly professing to have no intention of incorporating Korea into the mikado's empire that incorporation is swiftly taking place.

This fact is not denied by the peace advocates, but they think it impolitic just now to let the whole truth come out.

If matters were on the mend in Korea it might be politic to hush up the present situation. Perhaps it is wise to do so anyway, but the way the business puts it is placing the principle of peace in a false light. Peace founded upon paying tribute to wrong and wrongness cannot last, and it isn't worth the while of The Hague or any lobby else to work for a sham and call it the real thing. If we knew the worst we might justify Japan's treatment of Korea, and again we might not. It is extremely doubtful that we would go to war to free the Korean peninsula from the grip of Japan. So, silence, suppression and subterfuge are not weapons that make for lasting peace.

Harriman and the Public.
Harriman seems to have misunderstood the lesson which W. H. Vanderbilt taught railroaders that the public should be treated with profane contempt. Reports of investigations of railroad accidents on his lines are to be made public, and outsiders will be admitted to the sessions of the board making inquiries.

From a business point of view this new departure of Harriman's is wise. Harrowed it has been assumed, without stopping to inquire, that the majority of accidents are due to faulty equipment, for which the railroad management is responsible. Right inquiry should disclose the truth, and it has been urged in favor of the plan of publicity that it is certain to transmute that individual carelessness plays an important part in piling up railroad casualties. In possession of the truth the public will lay the blame where it belongs, whether the culprit be man or monster.

German Ambassador Sternburg has returned and dispensed of the stories about his poor health and early retirement from office. His health, he says, is good, and retirement is not on the cards. Which is agreeable news. The importance of his mission was never greater than now. America and Germany are on better terms because of the intelligence with which Baron Sternburg has handled his business with the state department. He knows our language and our people and is allied to us by marriage.

Unusual heat is reported in the Arctic circle, Lapland having been warmer than London and Ireland several degrees warmer than places on the Irish coast. The Arctic region is a very good place for the heat to concentrate, and nobody will find fault with the unusual character of the weather proceedings. Besides, it may melt the icebergs and send them down within available reach.

Having laughed at Mark Twain's white clothes, the English may presently see the ludicrous element in the combination of high hats and hobnail shoes with their own costumes so frequently displayed.

Mare Klaw says the theatrical business in England needs systematizing. Such systematizing Mr. Klaw represents here will not "go" there. That was proved in the case of the abortive soap trust.

Antists should remember that "they hang you for an apple in New Jersey." One of them forgot it and is serving 100 days in the penitentiary for so forgetting.

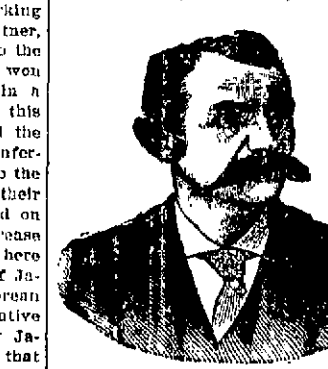

Mr. Rockefeller's daughter has declared that her father "lives in the clouds." Probably he is negotiating for a controlling interest in sky high enterprises.

Recently an Englishman paid $6,250 for a college born and bred in Scotland. He could have had an automobile, "honk" and all, made in America for $6,249.

New Point in Favor of Golf.
To the endless claims claimed for golf Mrs. Maudie Kendall, the actress, has added another, according to a London cable dispatch to the New York Sun. In presenting a cup won in competition she admitted that personally she knew nothing of golf, but understood that it was a game highly commended by excellent mothers, who found it made their daughters so tired that when they got home they went straight to bed.

TESTED AND PROVEN.

There is a Hoop of Solace in Being Able to Depend Upon a Well-Earned Reputation.

For months Connellsville readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, and read about the good work they have done in this locality. Not another remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit.

Mrs. Mary B. Ryan, of 298 East Main street, Uniontown, Pa., says: "Several years ago my son learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at one of our drug stores. He began using them for backache and kidney trouble and found complete relief. Although it is many years since he testified in the Uniontown papers to this cure, he has suffered to retain of his former trouble and is still recommending the pills, which gave him relief. I also learned the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills through the experience of my niece, who lives with me. In 1902 she was confined to her bed for ten weeks being helped with pain in the back. She suffered spasms of pain and was also greatly distressed with headaches. The kidney secretions were in a terrible state, being highly colored and containing sediment. She was treated by doctors, one of whom said she had spinal trouble. A nurse of them helped her to come to the conclusion that the kidneys were the cause of her trouble and got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills for her. By the time she had used two boxes she was up and around and four boxes brought about her recovery. I think these two cases are a good proof of the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

BEHIND THE SCENES.

The Indifference of the Actor to His Stage Companions.

The indifference of the actor of almost every grade to the play and his fellow players is to the outsider one of the many understandable things about this little known profession. There is an authentic case of an actor who gained sufficient favor and fortune in a certain play to appear in it continuously for four seasons. Although he naturally played the principal part, he did not appear until the second act, and it is a well known fact that during those four years he never saw the first act played or any part of it. There is no life behind the scenes, because actors and actresses who amount to anything go at once to their dressing rooms immediately their scenes on the stage are finished.

I recall an instance of a young woman whose dancing was a genuine sensation on Broadway for several years. She was very young and very pretty, and her engagement did a great deal to establish the success of the theater at which she appeared. It must have been quite two years after she achieved her first success when the star, who was also the manager and owner of the theater, casually remarked one night in his dressing room, "Let's go down on the stage and look at Miss ——— dance. I have never seen her, but they tell me she is very good."—Outing Magazine

TROUBLE SPREADING.

Telegraph Operators All Over the West Leave Work at Call to Strike.

WHOLE COUNTRY MAY SUFFER

In Chicago Employees of Postal Telegraph Company Join in Strike—Business in Windy City Badly Handicapped—Situation Growing Worse.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—The 500 operators of the Postal Telegraph company struck last night at 6 o'clock. This with the 1,100 men out from the offices of the Western Union throughout the city, makes 1,600 men now on strike in Chicago.

At a meeting of the operators a resolution was unanimously passed declaring that every operator in the city having a union card should be called out. The debate on this motion occupied the entire time of the meeting and an adjournment was taken at noon as the move was decided upon.

A short time after the meeting had dissolved demands were presented to the officials of the Postal company asking for an increase of 25 per cent in wages, an 8-hour day and recognition of the union. If these were not passed upon the strike was to follow. It was the general understanding among the operators that the demands could not be granted at once and the move was evidently intended to bring about the strike at the present time in order to aid the Western Union men if the demands were not granted. Under the wording of the order all the operators working for brokers and commission houses will be called out today and business will be badly handicapped.

Depend on Public Sentiment.

It was said by some of the operators who were present in the meeting that the intention of the union was to cripple the telegraph facilities of Chicago in every direction and to do it so completely that public sentiment would be brought to bear heavily on the two telegraph companies and in this manner force a settlement between them and the operators.

The general situation throughout the West became more serious as the day lengthened. In addition to the strikes reported during the afternoon, it was said that the men at El Paso, Tex., were out and that those in Spokane, Wash., were on the verge of a strike.

The strike at the Chicago office of the Postal company was attended by no sign of disorder. When a whistle was blown the operators rose from their keys with a cheer and walked out. There was not the slightest evidence of ill feeling on either side. The men after reaching the street gave repeated cheers and then dispersed.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL

Of Western Union and Postal Companies Will Be Asked by Operators if Strike Continues.

United Press Telegram.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 10.—Secretary Russell of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union, in his correspondence with attorneys of the union preparing, it is said, to ask the Federal Government to seize the properties of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Co., providing the strike continues, under terms of the Federal statute giving the Government power to take over properties of the telegraph companies as a matter of public expediency when the companies are unable to operate them.

Russell says the Government will be appealed to exercise full powers. Application is to be made to the Federal courts as soon as the strike extends to New York and relay points between there and the west.

A New Boy.

A bouncing baby boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert White on East Main street early this morning.

FORGERY CHARGED.

Samuel Lewis Alleged to Have Signed S. J. Harry's Name to a $15.00 Check.

Samuel Lewis was arrested last evening by Constable Joseph Crossland on a charge of forgery, perpetrated by S. J. Harry, who made information against the prisoner before Squire Clark. It is alleged that on Aug. 7, Lewis presented a check on the Young National Bank for $15, bearing the signature of Contractor S. Harry, which Harry cashed. It developed that Mr. Harry's signature had been forged, hence the arrest of Lewis. He will be given a hearing before Squire Clark this afternoon.

SUB STATION BURNED.

Plant of the West Penn Railways Struck at Youngwood and Destroyed Yesterday Afternoon.

Lightning yesterday afternoon struck the transforming station of the West Penn Railways at Youngwood, a few miles south of Greensburg, and caused a fire which totally destroyed the plant. The trouble was started about 12.35 yesterday afternoon, during the heavy electrical storm which passed over this region. Within a few minutes the entire place was ablaze. The destruction was complete. All the fine machinery, comparatively new, was totally wrecked.

Superintendent Ira Fletcher, who had charge of the plant, occupied the ground floor. He managed to remove all the household effects, but the living apartments were gutted. The substation was a three story structure of brick and concrete. The switchboard was on the second floor.

Word was sent to Connellsville of the accident and a force of men rushed to the scene under direction of J. S. Jenks, Superintendent of Transportation. J. W. Brown accompanied the party and gave valuable assistance in his department.

The Youngwood substation was built about four years ago under Mr. Jenks' supervision. It was a thoroughly modern plant in every respect. Statements to effect that the switchboard was antiquated, or that the plan formerly belonged to the Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Greensburg are incorrect.

CHILDREN HURT.

Home of D. C. Foltz Near Dunbar Struck By Lightning at Noon Yesterday.

DUNBAR, Aug. 10.—The home of D. C. Foltz at the Mill farm was struck by a bolt of lightning yesterday about noon and severely burned two children, his son Jacob, and Stanley Raycamp. The lightning followed a telephone wire into the house and passed around an iron bed where the two children were playing, and then made its exit through the wall of the house, which is built of stone, and ended its course against a tree. The telephone was completely demolished and a large hole torn in the wall. The house was struck about a year ago.

INVESTIGATING.

County Detective McBeth Working on Masontown Mystery.

UNIONTOWN, Aug. 10.—County Detective Alex. McBeth spent yesterday in the Klenk region, investigating the mysterious case of the man whose badly decomposed body was found about a mile from Masontown Thursday evening. Dr. Meacham of Masontown says the man has been dead at least six months. All the flesh is gone and naught but the bones remain.

This explains the only clue McBeth had that might prove of value. Peter Martin, who works at Besenior, says his cousin, Peter Mitro, left about four weeks ago and has not been heard of since. He was last seen in company with one Bill Arkl, who is also missing. Both men were headed for the old country. As the man whose body was found Thursday has been dead much longer than this, it is neither of the two missing men.

E. F. Smith Promoted. E. F. Smith, agent for the Prudential Insurance Company, who has been stationed at Connellsville for more than two years, has been promoted to Assistant Superintendent at McKeesport for the same company. Mr. Smith has been one of the most successful agents in the company's employ, standing high on its record at all times. He will assume charge of his new duties August 12.
